> I'd like to take this opportunity to ask you to upload the full text > of your work, preferably your final version - rather than the > publisher final version with typesetting and logos etc. In general > publishers will not allow the final version to be made available in an > open access collection, but over 90% are happy to allow the author final version.

> Your article will then be deposited in Newcastle's showcase for

> There is a growing movement towards open access in response to the > 'scholarly communication crisis'. Some of the main benefits and points > are outlined below:
>  Open Access has been shown to increase impact, citation counts & > readership.
>  Your work will be indexed by search engines such as Google.
>  Funding bodies are increasingly insisting on open access deposit as > part of their grant criteria.
> Although I am asking specifically for the text of this item, any of > your work, including articles, book chapters or conference > proceedings, may be eligible for deposit and I would be happy to have > a look at any items. I have to look at each item individually for > copyright reasons. Therefore, if you had your version of any of your > work, please do upload via the MyImpact system.
> I'm more than happy to answer any questions you may have regarding > depositing your items, or open access in general.
> I always check copyright conditions and include a link to the final, > definitive version.
